

Experienced Registered Veterinary Technician

AnimalScan is a MRI center for companion animals providing advanced veterinary imaging in the Bay Area. We are looking for a licensed RVT to work full time as part of our team. This position requires working as part of the team during the peri-anesthetic period, including restraint, IV catheter placement and assisting with induction, monitoring and recovery from anesthesia. The technical ability including, but not limited to, IV catheter placement, intubation, anesthesia monitoring and understanding of monitoring parameters and calculation of drug doses. Math & computer skills including Excel and Word. The ability to work with and learn electronic medical records, radiology information systems and other skills related to the position. Strong interpersonal skills and ability to interact and work as part of a team. Ability to work and interact with referring DVMs and clients in a professional and patient manner with appropriate confidence and discretion. We offer competitive compensation and a benefit package. Including paid holidays and vacation time. Salary is commensurate with experience. Please forward resume to dana.guffy@animalscan.org