Transforming Care. One Life at a Time.

LEAD TECHNICIAN: SURGERY

Cornell University Veterinary Specialists (CUVS) is seeking an experienced lead surgery technician to join our incredible team.

The growing Surgery department is currently staffed by two board-certified surgeons, 5 technicians and 2 assistants. We offer comprehensive soft tissue and orthopedic surgery including arthroscopy and other minimally invasive modalities. We are looking for a senior/lead technician to play a pivotal role in supervising and growing the department. Extensive experience as a specialty surgery technician is a must; specialty certification a plus.

CUVS is a mission-driven specialty and emergency center, providing exceptional and innovative medicine that is both patient-centered and service-oriented. We are an independent, for-profit subsidiary of Cornell University, combining the best aspects of academia and of private practice to create a unique hospital model. Our Core Values include: Patient-Centered Medicine, Integrated Care, and a Culture of Learning.

Our culture prioritizes and values the veterinary technician and their essential role in the clinical team. Many of our technicians are credentialed veterinary technician specialists (VTS) or are tracking towards certification. We are dedicated to helping our team members develop to their fullest potential.

CUVS is a great place to utilize and grow your skills in a challenging, rewarding, fun, and respectful environment. Pursue a career in leadership, or a career pathway to VTS credentialing – you can have it all. Individuals with a passion for their work, a strong sense of collaboration and teamwork, and an appreciation for diversity are strongly encouraged to apply.

CUVS offers an outstanding compensation package with excellent pay structure and terrific benefits that include CE allowance, over 20 hours internal RACE approved CE opportunities, matching 401k, medical, dental, pet, disability and life insurance.

Located in Harbor Point, Stamford, on Connecticut's "Gold Coast", the area offers beauty, a rich cultural experience, and myriad water and other outdoor activities. We are 45 minutes from Manhattan and minutes from commuter trains and the Interstate, offering easy access to other parts of the Northeast.
