

Veterinary Eye Center of Manhattan is seeking an experienced veterinary technician with strong anesthesia skills to join our team in the heart of New York City. Our new state-of-the-art facility, scheduled to open Spring 2021, ensures you have the tools, technology, and layout needed to provide optimal patient care in a friendly, modern environment.

As a member of the ophthalmology team you will be actively involved in client education, ophthalmic disease testing, performing pre-surgical diagnostics, anesthetic monitoring, and patient care. Ophthalmology experience is preferred, but not required. As most surgical cases fall under a higher ASA class, strong anesthesia skills comfort with paralytics are preferred. A desire to learn while maintaining a positive and collaborative culture is necessary. A desire to pursue VTS specialty would be encouraged and supported.

We understand that in addition to a positive and stimulating work environment, a healthy work-life balance is critical to your long-term success and growth as a veterinary professional. This is a full-time position that does not require on-call, late evenings, or weekend coverage.

Our compensation package includes a competitive salary, a generous signing bonus, health insurance (including vision and dental), paid time off, 401(k), CE and license reimbursement.

Required

- Veterinary Technician Certification/License (CVT/LVT/RVT)
- Advanced anesthesia skills
- Exceptional communication skills – strong and respectful written and verbal communication skills; able to clearly communicate with clients as well as team members
- Adaptable – remain flexible while maintaining a positive attitude
- Highly organized with acute attention to detail
- Reliable – good judgment and ability to work independently and responsibly
- Resourceful and have collaborative problem-solving skills
- Open to feedback, coaching, and learning

Preferred

- 2+ years of experience as a licensed veterinary technician
- Ophthalmology experience
- VTS Ophthalmology, or looking to pursue your ophthalmology VTS
- VTS Anesthesia and Analgesia
